

alex halpern
writer | director

alex halpern is the director of the award winning feature doc nine good teeth, which premiered on hbo and the bbc. currently he is working as a screenwriter, director and ceo of post factoryny, new york city's premiere feature film editorial facility. halpern founded post factory<sup>ny</sup> in 1996.

his writing and directing credits include: westchester, a feature film for the jim henson company, the award-winning zelda, cat woman of queens and cherub, the 90's cult short-film featuring the butthole surfers. halpern also directed the critically acclaimed stop motion music video blown away for the band tripping daisy.

his television credits include mtv's you wrote it, you watch it and mtv sports; drag kings.

alex lives in new york with his wife, caryn and their two sons, roman and preston. his formal education was completed with degrees from nyu tisch school of the arts, and the instituto de science cinematografice, florence, italy. he also trained as a juggler.