

elevation talent agency

dan menke
writer

dan menke started his writing and comedy studies at chicago's second city, and then new york's upright citizens brigade. he also regularly performed stand up at clubs throughout new york including gotham comedy club, stand up new york, a weekly spot at cb's gallery, and in 2005 he took his act on the road along with a rock band. in addition, he is also an accomplished drummer, which paved the way to writing and starring in buck nelson, lifting the cloak of mystery off rock drumming, a music instructional video spoof. this project went on to screen in numerous film festivals, was featured in stuff magazine, and maintains popularity on you tube. on top of music, dan illustrated and wrote a catalog, free with purchase, a collection of his finest inventions. recently, his original series, the arty need show, was optioned by comedy central, and he was commissioned for additional scripts. currently, dan is working on a television pilot, two features, a cartoon and a collection of obituaries.